With a career spanning over twenty-five years in the Staffing Industry, Amy Bingham works with owners and executives to increase sales effectiveness, positioning them for success to build value in their companies over time.

Aligning operating processes with the best practices of high-growth firms and coaching staffing leaders are key competencies of Bingham Consulting.

It is Amy's broad exposure to the best practices of high-performance staffing firms that her clients value most. Earlier in her career, working for a global firm provided the foundation for success in the Staffing Industry. Today, continual research on emerging industry trends and process enhancements equip Amy to help her consulting clients differentiate and stay ahead of the competition.

Passionate about succession planning, Amy trains managers and executives in the Millennial Mentors Staffing Leadership Acceleration Program, creating a unique experiential learning environment unlike any other in the Staffing Industry. Through knowledge transfer, Amy equips participants to effectively lead staffing teams, drive optimal business results, and mitigate the risk of costly turnover.

Amy is a previous performance coach for the Human Performance Institute and is trained in Martha Beck's Wayfinder® life coaching modalities.

Amy is an active member of the American Staffing Association and Women in Leadership. She is a highly-rated presenter at ASA Staffing World and many other national, state, and regional conferences.
